COUNSEL CARE CONNECTION, P.C. -

ANGER MANAGEMENT INSTITUTE

Most people believe that anger is a negative emotion from which no good can come. Many people think that anger should not be expressed and that such feelings are sinful. This Trainer's certification course based on the new 2010 Third Edition of "What's Good About Anger?", the BARK manual and the revised Trainer's manual will give participants a fresh perspective on anger and how anger—which is part of the human experience—can be put to work for good.

Learn how to teach and train struggling clients, groups and students to cope with anger in healthy ways through assertiveness, problem-solving, restructured thinking, conflict resolution, empathy skills, forgiveness, stress management and more!

What you will learn:

...The nature, sources, triggers, process of anger.

...When anger is helpful or harmful.

...Underlying cognitive distortions of harmful anger.

...The essential role of stress management for anger reduction.

...DSM IV - mental health disorders associated with anger problems; contraindication for treatment.

...Skills/tools for: assessing & screening participants, evaluation of progress.

...How to defuse hostility and manage behavior;

...Effective, research-based anger prevention and control strategies!

...The role of emotional intelligence and empathy skills. Will provide teaching tools.

...Cutting-edge research in anger management.

...How to develop private practice, support groups and new growth opportunities.

...Ethical guidelines for anger management training and support groups.

...Anger Management Coaching: overview, goals and coaching tools.

Many counselors, social and mental health workers, probation officers, educators, chaplains, pastors and professionals are electing to become certified to train clients, groups and students in anger management skills. Those completing this course may offer anger management classes, groups and coaching- awarding certificates to individuals required to complete anger management programs! Approved for a total of 12 CEs by the National Board of Certified Counselors; National Association of Social Workers and by NAADAC. Attendees obtain "Certified Anger Management Trainer" credential and are eligible for *National Anger Management Association: Anger Management Specialist-1 certification & membership!
